WHAT IS THE ARCHITECT LICENSING ADVISORS COMMUNITY?

The Architect Licensing Advisors Community is a group of volunteers committed to assisting licensure candidates and architects as they navigate the path to licensure and reciprocity. Architect licensing advisors provide guidance throughout the licensure process by facilitating the flow of information to architecture students, licensure candidates, and architects.

WHO CAN BE AN ARCHITECT LICENSING ADVISOR?

Anyone can be an architect licensing advisor. Some licensing advisors are appointed by universities, student organizations, and local American Institute of Architects (AIA) chapters, while other volunteers join to represent their firm or organization—or simply to help advance the profession. Being licensed to practice architecture is suggested but not required to be a licensing advisor.

ARCHITECT LICENSING ADVISORS

ELIGIBILITY

Licensing advisors are committed to any combination of the items below:

- Assisting candidates pursuing licensure.
- Helping supervisors assist licensure candidates through the licensure process.
- Advising architects on NCARB certification and reciprocity.

ROLE

- Serve as an information resource for licensure candidates and architects on the path to licensure (education, experience, and examination).
- Provide guidance along the transition from candidate to practicing architect within the context of state regulatory requirements, reciprocity, and NCARB certification.
- Advise and assist licensure candidates with the NCARB Record application and documentation process.

Most volunteer positions have a two-year renewable term.

RESPONSIBILITIES

- Regularly attend and/or participate in Architect Licensing Advisors Community training and development events.
- Communicate with NCARB to maintain a thorough understanding of the Architectural Experience Program® (AXP®), the Architect Registration Examination® (ARE®), and NCARB certification requirements, objectives, and resources.
- Communicate with your local licensing board to maintain a thorough understanding of registration requirements and procedures.
- Communicate and collaborate with professional support networks (including NCARB, student organizations, local and national AIA components, licensing boards, etc.) to strengthen awareness of the required components of licensure and the importance of becoming licensed.
- Maintain up-to-date contact and firm/organization/school representation information in My NCARB.

Licensing advisors are expected to access the online community regularly, communicate with peers, and stay up-to-date with NCARB programs.

SUPPORT

- Architect Licensing Advisors Online Community: aimed to facilitate communication, information sharing, and networking with other licensing advisors from different parts of the country.
- Architect Licensing Advisors Webinar Series: presented by NCARB staff and other guest speakers on different topics related to licensure and the profession.
- NCARB staff support: direct email to ask questions, set up webinars, and coordinate other outreach events.
- NCARB training materials and presentation templates.
- Licensing Advisors Summit: biennial training conference to converse directly with NCARB staff and other advisors, and explore factors that impact the pursuit of licensure.

EXPECTATIONS

- Read NCARB's guidelines
- Participate in the online community
- Attend training webinars
- Assist in the coordination of NCARB outreach presentations
- Adhere to the Architect Licensing Advisors Designation and Branding Guidelines

APPOINTED POSITIONS

Appointing organizations should notify NCARB of all newly appointed architect licensing advisors by sending an email to advisors@ncarb.org.

The email must come from the individual responsible for making the appointment and contain the advisor's name and contact information.

The appointed advisor's contact information will be listed publicly on NCARB's website.
